MARRIAGE THERAPY JOURNAL will guide you through conflict, communication, curiosity, and connection on your way to a better relationship.

A good therapist is better than a great therapy book. But a good therapy book is better than no therapist. It might even be better than a bad one.

Faith Phillips

MISSING AND MURDERED is an unprecedented effort to detail eight unsolved cases of indigenous women who disappeared in North America. Native women face a murder rate 10 times higher than the national average. Faith Phillips, a Cherokee true crime novelist, targets eight cases of missing and murdered indigenous women that she believes are all solvable. The author, with a proven track record of reopening official cold case investigations, travels to each of the eight tribes across North America to document the crimes, share the grief of families who continue to search for their missing women, and coordinate resources between state, tribal, and federal governments to demand answers, once and for all.

Faith Phillips is a screenwriter, author, and producer. Faith is a 2026 recipient of the Foundation House Residency. She previously worked to reopen the Girl Scout Murders cold case in Oklahoma. The result of that harrowing investigation, THE GIRL SCOUT MURDERS, is now streaming on Fox Nation. Faith's third book, a true crime novel about the notorious Weleetka murders, became the Oklahoma best seller, NOW I LAY ME DOWN, which was selected for development by Firelight Films.

Her current projects include Missing & Murdered, an unscripted series designed to help solve #MMIW cases, and the scripted crime noir thrillers, CADAVER DOG and MANKILLER SHELL, as well as a comedy travel series, LIFE ON THE RIVER. The author lives with her family on the Cherokee reservation and travels the national speaking circuit telling stories about writing and producing in Indian Country.

Bonnie-Jill Laflin

In a League of Her Own, Celebrating Female Firsts in Sports, Bonnie-Jill Laflin shares the stories of women from the field to the front office who achieved record-breaking accomplishments and changed expectations, featuring new interviews with and profiles of Billie Jean King, Jackie Joyner-Kersey, Danica Patrick, Jeanie Buss, Nadia Comăneci, Mary Lou Retton and more.

Bonnie-Jill is a trailblazing sports broadcaster and the first and only female NBA scout, holding the front office executive position with the Los Angeles Lakers. She's the first woman to dance at a professional level for three teams, in two sports, starting with the NBA's Golden State Warriors, and moving to the NFL for both the San Francisco 49ers and the Dallas Cowboys. She is the first female to be awarded six championship rings in two professional sports, earning a Super Bowl ring during her time cheering for the 49ers, and five NBA championship rings as an executive for the Lakers. She has worked as a reporter and host for ESPN, NBA TV, NBC/NBC Sports, NFL Films, Westwood One, CBS, E!, BBC Sports, SiriusXM, NFR Live, and Fox Sports, and is a host ambassador for Michael Jordan's "Jordan Brand."

Tara Pringle Jefferson

BLOOM HOW YOU MUST: A Black Woman's Guide to Self-Care, by Tara Pringle Jefferson, will put Black women at the forefront of the wellness conversation. The title BLOOM HOW YOU MUST comes from a Lucille Clifton poem, "Mulberry Fields," about the enduring legacy of Black People. Tara is the founder of The Self Care Suite, a wellness community for Black women and other women of color.

Self-care is now a multi-billion dollar industry, and it is not a trend or frivolous matter for Black women. It has always been a throughline: Consider Coretta Scott King on girls' trips with fellow activist Betty Shabazz and Myrlie Evers-Williams to take a break from the stress of the civil rights movement. Remember Rosa Parks attending (and leading!) yoga classes in the midst of her Detroit activism. Bloom How You Must will connect the dots in one easy to read, digestible book—part guide/part journal with exercises to put each segment of wellness into practice. Her voice has been featured on New York magazine/The Cut, Black Enterprise and Essence.

THE HUSBAND TRAINER

After her long-term actor boyfriend dumps her and marries his co-star, Kate goes on a girls' trip to Cabo, where she makes a painful realization: she's been unknowingly prepping men for their future wives.

An underappreciated writer stuck proofreading articles instead of writing her own, she pitches a bold idea to her intimidating boss: an article about her accidental role as a "husband trainer."

Her first solo assignment? Date Romeo. Yes, that's his real name. Jet-setting, boat-owning, heartbreak-wielding Romeo, and transform him into marriage material... for her boss. Enter Bryan, the pilot from her past (the one who got away). Kate is forced to choose between the career she's always wanted, and the man who just might be her HEA...

The Fry Pans Aren't Sufficing uses dark humor and surrealism in a collection of short stories, told through a strikingly unique voice, to follow a variety of characters navigating the disorienting worlds of natural disaster, displacement, love, grief, and rebirth across multiple locations, including New Orleans, New York City, Chicago, and Hawaii.

"Beyond the diverse cast of characters, New Orleans itself is a character, often both comforting and maddening for the male protagonists." – Publishers Weekly

WE PROMISED UTOPIA is a sci-fi epic centered around Mexican-American, charismatic idealist, Isabel Bari, and her development of the Equivalent Carbon Credit (ECC) which ties every element of the global economy to a carbon-based currency.

Witness the rise of a utopian society, its budding growth, and its descent into dystopia.

"A timely, engrossing SF tale with an environmental theme and striking art" that "offers readers just as many reasons to return for the sequel." Kirkus Reviews

"The pacing here is superb and as it takes us through the pages revealing the world, the story and the characters it certainly piques our curiosity to know more." Steven Leitman, GEEKS

The comics focus on three separate eras of humanity: the rise of the ECC in the present day, the establishment of a utopian world that adopted the ECC, and a dystopian future after the mysterious collapse of the ECC.

A Hippy-Hoppy Toad: It's hard to be a tiny toad minding your own business on a twig. First a bird pecks at him. . . . Then a bee buzzes. . . Then a dog barks . . . and so on. And each time the toad is surprised by a buzz or a woof (or the toe of a sneaker!), he hops to a new location farther down the road. With fun sounds, clever rhymes, and an irresistible rhythm, this delightful children's book is a Junior Library Guild Selection.

"[Peggy Archer and Anne Wilsdorf] capture both the comedy and peril of the little toad's adventures in this wonderful read-aloud." —The Wall Street Journal

Peggy Archer is also the author of Name that Dog: Puppy Poems from A to Z and Turkey Surprise (translation rights available).
